Who? everybody interested in talking English

Every first Wednesday of the month the German-American Association Siegerland-Wittgenstein organizes the "Talking English" meeting. It's an informal gathering of people of all ages and from all walks of life interested in talking English in a pleasantly open and informal circle. It's open to everybody (not just club members) willing to practice, brush up, or stay in touch with the English language. Maybe you are a student in a secondary school or at university, maybe you've lived in the USA (or another English-speaking country) for some time and would like to meet people with similar interests in topics revolving around culture, lifestyle, politics, and society. Often it is about the USA or other English-speaking countries. However, we have opened up the range of topics to include everything that we are interested in talking about!

Each evening usually has got a main topic, which the moderator has roughly outlined and prepared for by means of texts, films, games, or other media. However, the dynamics of lively discussions will develop through active participation of all members. On some nights, a native speaker or insightful returnee from the US is invited to convey the "latest gossip" from abroad. Come and join us! Spread the news!

The meetings are planned and prepared by Sarah Bickel, Birgit Wichelhaus, and Volker Schüttenhelm. For any questions contact the DAG-SiWi e.V. office:
